Life's little tragedies include the replacing of a worn tire with a brand new one, thinking that the old tire will go flat at any minute, and then find that the new tire has gone flat. This, of course, would happen at one o'clock in the morning when one is in a rush.

Typographical errors will slip into a story in spite of what proofreaders may do. This always calls to mind a story about a small town newspaper.

In a special edition it carried a long story about a certain war veteran, Major Soandso, who won more decorations than he could carry.

In the story, they referred to the Major as "the battle scarred veteran, Major Soandso." Next morning when the story appeared the linotype operator had set it "bottle scarred veteran," and the proofreader let it go at that.

All enraged, Major Soandso appeared at the office and demanded that a correction be made. This was promised him. So the editor wrote the following: "We are only too glad to correct a mistake that appeared in yesterday's paper, regarding Major Soandso. Through an error the story appeared as 'bottle scarred.' What we intended to say, was battle scarred veteran."

This was okay, but when the story appeared the next morning, it said, "We are only too glad—etc. What we intended to say was battle scarred veteran."

As a result the editor left town the next morning before the irate major could catch him.

Ring Lardner has solved the problem of receiving manuscripts back from magazines. Ring says that in his earlier days, when he couldn't land any of his stories in any magazine, he used to send his efforts under a fictitious name. As a result, he said, he never received a story back.

Probably countless feminine hearts beat furiously yesterday as they listened in to the radio to hear the Prince of Wales speak. The prince has a wonderful speaking voice, and his accent isn't as British as one might expect.

Another of life's little tragedies is washing the pooch, getting her nice and clean and white in half an hour, and then see her get into the back yard, roll in the dirt and undo your labors in five minutes.

It's almost as bad as breaking a shoe string when dressing in a hurry.

Girl Injured At Playground

A dislocated knee was suffered by 12 year old Gladys Kron while playing on the Lincoln school yard early yesterday.

Taken to Abbott Emergency hospital the girl was treated by Dr. U. S. Abbott and returned to her home on Sixth street.

It was said the girl was kicking a ball when the accident occurred.

Missing Man Sought In Bay Region

Somewhere in the bay region John E. Etzel is believed to be working unaware that his aged mother is on her death bed at her home in Sublimity, Oregon.

The mother is Mrs. Joseph Etzel, and another son has come to this area to aid in the search for the missing man. The missing man was last heard of here in 1927.

Sim F. Etzel is the other son who has come to the bay region to assist in the search. John Etzel is described as 52 years of age, five feet four inches tall, and of dark complexion. He usually followed construction work, it was said.

INMAN ELECTION TO CONGRESS ASSURED

Death Toll In Italian Earthquakes Reported At 17 YULE CLUB MEMBERS TO GET $200,000

FUNDS TO BE RELEASED SOON

Between $160,000 and $200,000 will be released by Richmond banks next month to Christmas club members, it was revealed yesterday in preliminary reports made by local banks.

It is estimated that there are more than 2500 members of the Christmas club in this city. This estimate was based upon figures taken when the enrollments for the club closed last year.

The money will be released to members of the club late in November.

As a result of this announcement, it is expected that Christmas in Richmond will be a merry one, for merchants and citizens.

It is estimated that almost the entire amount will be spent during the holidays here by Richmond people.

At one bank here they reported there were 1800 members of the club, the second largest in the bay region. When the funds are released, these 1800 members will receive a total of $130,000.

At another bank an estimate showed there were more than 400 members of the club, representing $25,000.

Definite figures for the Christmas clubs are expected to be made public within the near future.

TWO STEAMER LINES MERGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—UP—A fleet of 31 vessels operating on the Pacific ocean is provided by consolidation of the Matson Navigation company and the Los Angeles Steamship company announced tonight by General H. P. Sherman, president of Lascos, and W. P. Roth, president of the Matson line.

The Matson line has eight passenger ships—Malolo, Sierra, Sonoma, Ventura, Maui, Matsonia, Wilhelmina and Manoa—and 14 freighters. Lascos operates the City of Los Angeles, Calawali, Diamond Head, Yale, Harvard and four freighters.

In addition to these the Matson line is building three modern liners to cost approximately $24,000,000, two of which will be ready for operation in the spring of 1932.

Roth, in a statement issued here, said under the consolidation plan it is expected that the Malolo, flagship of the Matson line, will make voyages to the Hawaiian Islands alternately from the ports of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Bridge Celebration Queen Is Elected

MARTINEZ, Oct. 30.—Edna Harrison will rule bridge day festivities here Saturday, as queen of the all day fete.

She was elected last night from the 13 candidates for the position after trailing along in third position. Edna is a resident of this city, and amassed a total of 25,710 votes to win the coveted place during the festivities.

Musicians Union Loses Court Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—UP—The state supreme court announced today it was powerless to act in the controversy between the Musicians' union and theater owners that followed advent of talking motion pictures.

The court pointed out that a contract between the musicians and the owners had expired Aug. 31, last, and therefore any order it might make would be futile.

2000 Men In Battle With Huge Blaze

SANTA PAULA, Oct. 30.—A raging fire that has swept ahead 15 miles in defiance of all efforts to check its progress entered Montebello oil fields shortly before midnight where one derrick took fire and others were threatened momentarily.

Workers were backfiring, but it was problematical as to whether they would save other derricks in the vicinity of the blazing oil well.

Two firemen were trapped in the Thousand Oaks district at Trunfo Peak lookout where several homes were endangered, but escaped uninjured.

The fire warden's office here said that a force of 2000 men—paid wardens, volunteers and oil workers—was striving to check the advance of the flames, but that a strong wind was driving them back.

More than 100 oil derricks were imperiled by the on-rush of the fire. For sixty hours a steadily increasing force of men failed to control the fire.

Already the blaze had blackened some 30,000 acres of land.

While it was reported during the day that several workers had been slightly burned, there had been no fatalities.

The fire started on the Newhall ranch in Papo canyon Tuesday morning. It had crossed several roads where it had been hoped to backfire successfully.

Should the fire pass through the oil field it will have four miles more of land over which to burn before reaching the Grimes grade road, south of Fillmore, which runs to Moorpark.

Another huge fire burned fiercely on a four-mile front in the Thousand Oaks district. It swept thru Sycamore canyon and Little Sequis canyon and early tonight moved from Ventura county two miles into Los Angeles county.

Moose Lodge To Hear Address

A talk on marine engines will be the feature of next Thursday evening's meeting of Richmond Moose lodge. That was the announcement last night following the regular meeting of the body which decided that during the month of November a surprise would be in store for the members every meeting night.

These surprises would be interesting, entertaining, and instructive, it was explained. Charles Donnelly will have charge of arrangements for the November meetings. A Halloween dance will be held in Moose hall by the organization tomorrow night. At that time costumes will be the special attraction. Masks will also be worn by the dancers.

Stepin Fetchit Sued For Rent

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—UP—When Stepin Fetchit moved out of a house owned by George W. Williams, he not only owed $500 rent, but such articles as a Chinese rug, sheets and table cloths, Williams charged in a $2450 suit against the Negro film actor today.

The landlord claimed further that many articles in the house were damaged during parties.

Strange Accident Endangers Fifty

OAKLAND, Oct. 30.—UP—A strange accident endangered the lives of 50 railroad laborers in a work train here today.

An automobile crossing the tracks threw a switch and resulted in a collision between a freight train and the work train. Only the fact that the freight was moving slowly at the time averted a tragedy.

TIDAL WAVE FOLLOWS QUAKE

ANCONA, Italy, Oct. 30.—UP—Two violent earthquake shocks rocked three provinces in East-Central Italy today, killing seventeen persons and doing widespread damage.

Hundreds of victims were rushed to hospitals in Ancona from the countryside about this port city. The death toll was comparatively small, but it was feared many among the injured would not survive.

The quake centered in the Adriatic Sea, officials reported. A tidal wave accompanied the disaster. It did little damage, however, due to the lowness of the Adriatic coastline in this vicinity.

Communications were temporarily affected. Trains were forced to go slowly through the panic-stricken zone. Schools were suspended in many towns, children running frightened into the streets.

The provinces of Pesaro, Ancona and Macerata were worst affected. Buildings were cracked in a score of villages.

The death toll was not higher, officials pointed out, because the quake occurred at 8:10 a. m. when people were asleep. Otherwise, falling buildings, beams and the like would have killed possibly hundreds.

The intensity of the shocks was recorded as of ninth degree in the Mercalli scale, an unusually sharp earth movement. The town of Sinigaglia, 20 miles north of Ancona on the Adriatic, apparently was the first hit. The dead there totaled 20, with at least 50 injured. In Ancona, two dead were listed and 80 injured, although the latter figure was unofficial.

High Pupils At U. C. Session

A group of prominent members of the Richmond union high school international club was entertained recently at the first international night given at the international house at the University of California in Berkeley.

The members of the local club who were present at the affair were: Marian Silva, Milton Belfay, Harman Jatta, and Darrow Sutton. They were accompanied by Miss Dorothy Cox and Miss Blanche Carson, faculty directors of the Richmond union high school international club.

An excellent and varied program of international interest was presented, including Russian songs and instrumental music, Spanish dances and songs, a play of India translated from the Sanskrit, a play translated from Arabian, German songs, and a play depicting life in Japan.

Approximately $250 damage was done when a cigaret accidentally dropped into a chesterfield set in Regal apartments brought Richmond fire department to extinguish a blaze late yesterday.

Smoke pouring from upper and lower windows of the two story building attracted the attention of a woman passerby who gave the alarm.

It was reported to Assistant Fire Chief Jack Barry that a man who had looked at the apartment, which was not occupied, earlier in the afternoon, had apparently dropped a cigaret in the chesterfield, which smoldered for some time before it broke into blaze.

Damage was done chiefly by heat from the fire and smoke. Water damage was nominal. Engines three and four with truck No. 1 responded to the alarm. The apartment is located at Twenty-third and Nevin avenue.

Mayor Denies He Was Attacked

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—UP—Victor J. Miller, St. Louis' genial mayor, insisted tonight that he was not attacked by a group of unemployed men who stopped him on the steps of the city hall while he was on his way to attend a meeting on unemployment aid.

The men clamored for the mayor's attention. Others pulled at his arms when he dismounted from his car. The mayor's overcoat was torn before he finally wrenched himself free and hastened into the city hall.

"We want something to do and we are going to get it," shouted one of the men while the rest crowded about Miller.

"I was certainly not attacked," said the mayor later at the conference. "They merely were anxious to go to work. I don't blame them and I hope this conference will be of help."

Attorney Is Held Guilty Of Theft

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—UP—After deliberating less than 20 minutes, a jury in superior court returned a verdict here today that Charles McEnerney, well known attorney, was guilty of grand theft.

The same jury will assemble November 12 to hear testimony on his plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

McEnerney was accused of embezzling $8000 from an estate he was administering.

Former Dictator Of Greece Held

ATHENS, Oct. 30.—UP—Gen. Theodoros Pangalos, former dictator of Greece, was arrested here tonight.

The authorities declared a plot to overthrow the government had been discovered. The arrest of the erstwhile head of the country followed a day of political excitement in which 30 followers of Pangalos were arrested prior to the apprehension of their leader.

NEUMILLER OUT FOR INMAN

(Special To Record Herald)

STOCKTON, Oct. 30.—Tremendous impetus to the sweeping sentiment in behalf of the writer in candidacy of Senator J. M. Inman was given today when C. L. Neumiller, former chairman of the Republican State committee and often urged to become a candidate for governor of California made public endorsement of Inman.

This will have a strong influence upon the vote not alone in San Joaquin county but also in Contra Costa and other counties in district in which Neumiller is widely known.

Adding still greater impetus were Inman endorsements by other influential San Joaquin residents George W. Ashley, former assemblyman and chairman of the Legislative committee of the California Association of County Mutual Fire Insurance companies; T. R. Stribley and John H. Master, former members of the Stockton city council. The Neumiller endorsement follows in the heels of that of yesterday by Warren Atherton, Stockton leader in State War Veterans circles, and himself for a time a possible contender for Congress. Neumiller's statement follows:

"Senator J. M. Inman has been closely identified with California's progress during the past quarter of a century. During his legislative career of over seventeen years he has been intimately associated with all state activities and has sponsored constructive, progressive and humanitarian legislation in an aggressive fashion.

"Senator Inman knows the needs and problems of this congressional district. As a legislator he has been most capable and efficient. His long experience with governmental matters, both state and national, and likewise those included in the Third Congressional district, and the splendid service rendered by him, broadly qualify Senator Inman to represent the Third Congressional district in Congress with the same energy and ability which has characterized his long service in the state legislature.

"I commend Senator Inman's candidacy to the electorate of his district."

20-30 CLUB HEARS TALK

Richmond Twenty-Thirties know more about the 20 amendments to be voted upon Tuesday than they would have had they not sponsored a meeting last night at which time the various measures were explained in detail to them.

That is what they agreed upon last night following the discussion led by T. H. Delap. The gathering and dinner was held in Hotel Carquinez.

Walter Axelsson played a saxophone while Alice Axelsson, accompanied him as the musical attraction for the program. Ralph Anderson, president of the group, presided.

GUESTS AT CARQUEZ

Guests registered at Hotel Carquinez yesterday were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Paulson, Fresno; Frank B. Bly and wife, San Francisco; D. Pasani, San Francisco.

Candidate Tells Of Record Before Large Crowd In Hall Here

J. M. Inman's record as a California legislator makes him the only logical candidate for election to the United States Congress as representative of the third congressional district of this state.

That was the general trend of conversation following the address of the candidate before a throng of supporters who heard him make his appeal for election last night at Brotherhood hall.

In a straightforward message from the depth of his heart Inman laid his record as a California legislator for the past 17 years, before Richmond voters as his only right for election to the high post.

The message delivered in Brotherhood hall before a crowd composed chiefly of men who toil with their hands, was delivered by a man who not long ago used his two hands to gain his sustenance, he declared, when he worked as a miner in many of the western states.

Have the American people come to the place where they must have hereditary successors to political office? Inman asked.

The candidate readily admitted he had not had a father to lead him through the legislative halls of Congress as his opponent had had, but strongly inferred that if experience means anything, his ability to find his way about should make him as capable in that respect as the man who has been that fortunate.

Should the people establish the hereditary succession practice, some day the elected may be without an heir, then what would the people do when the king died, he queried. The present opponent of Senator Inman is without an heir, the audience was told.

Inman recited his work on the various committees in the state senate, and told of the hardships encountered in making the fight for labor and its rights. At no time is there an overwhelming crowd of labor backers to aid the man making the fight for labor, Senator Inman declared. "However there is always the crowd for the opposition."

His crippled children bill, which he introduced after he had witnessed scores of children from the lower class homes in such physical condition that they would never be able to compete on an even basis with the more fortunate child, won him the plaudits and tears from eyes of many of the spectators.

Inman declared that if only one child had been saved by the measure (Continued on Page Eight)

Seven To Five Odds Offered Inman To Win

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—Odds of 7 to 5 are being offered in Sacramento today that Senator J. M. Inman, write-in candidate for Congressman, will be elected.

A K. Street betting commissioner announced it has $14,000 to bet on Inman at 7 to 5.

In Stockton wagers have been made on a basis of 7 to 5 that Inman will carry San Joaquin county, and even money is being bet that he will carry that county by 2500 plurality.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL HEAD ENDORSES J. M. INMAN

San Francisco, Oct. 29, 1930.

To the Officers and Members of the Building Trades Council of Contra Costa County. Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The outstanding champion of the rights of the common people who has at all times manifested an absolutely fair attitude toward the working people of this state, has been Senator J. M. Inman, who is now a write-in candidate for the position of congressman from the third district.

Based on our recommendation solely upon his meritorious record as champion of the rights of the people, and mindful of the fact that his many years of experience as a public official make Senator Inman just the man to represent the people of the third district, we most earnestly recommend that everything possible be done to insure the election of J. M. Inman on November fourth.

Sincerely and fraternally,
(Signed) F. C. MacFARLAND,
General President, State Building Trade Council.

CIVIC CENTER TIRES FIVE TO PLAY

A team that is likely to show sensational speed in the B division of the 1930 Richmond City basketball league which opens Monday night is the Civic Center Tire quintet, judging by the showings made by this team in pre-season practice.

The Tires are a clever aggregation, their ranks consisting almost entirely of veterans of high school varsity squads.

A strong group of forwards consisting of Sedwright, Sassoni, Roveda, and Heeger will represent the Tires, while Don Randall will be at center. Joe Williams, a famous high school veteran, Clyde Bumsamer and Ferguson are out for the guard positions with the Tires. With such a squad, the Civic Center Tires may be expected to show fast opposition to any other teams in this year's B division.

The Tires will play in the opening game of the league season Monday evening in Roosevelt gymnasium, when they will meet the Ben Malik aggregation at 7:30 o'clock.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—UP—Two bandits who inquired the price of wedding rings, but apparently were not contemplating matrimony at all, escaped with about $50,000 in jewelry from the Wuerker's jewelry company store today.

The robbery occurred while the streets were crowded with home-going workers. Three clerks were

HIGH ELEVEN WILL MEET PIEDMONT

The Piedmont Highlanders of Piedmont high school will come out of the hills behind Oakland today to invade the gridiron of Richmond union high school.

As soon as the first kick-off is made, the invaders will almost certainly learn that they are up against a team chagrined by one defeat, a team fighting with its back to the wall for a high place in A. C. A. L. football, and a team anxious to finish up a rather unsuccessful season with a masterly flourish.

The Piedmonters will come to Richmond with a first-class football reputation. However, many aacious eleven has been crushed by a desperate opponent. Richmond union high school's varsity squad is desperate, and will carry a strong threat against the Piedmont reputation today. The locals showed a sensational drive against the state-renowned Berkeley high school aggregation when they marched down the field for a touchdown in the face of a marvellous Berkeley defense. Although defeated by a large score, the Richmond boys last Friday showed that they possessed a fine offensive which is certain to do damage if once let loose.

A team almost completely recovered from unfortunate injuries and other mishaps will represent Richmond union high school in this afternoon's contest.

Merle Baskett, one of Richmond's hardest plunging warriors, will start at fullback today, while Searcella will be at quarter. Ed Alcock and Jack Stoddard will complete this strong Richmond backfield. John Rosano, fullback, is once more in a football suit following a long illness, and, although not starting today, is expected to prove valuable to Richmond high's offense.

A heavy, strong, veteran line will face the Piedmont squad this afternoon. Brignone will start at center, and will be flanked by Baxter and Hoefter. Lilly and Ball will start at tackle, while Tassone and Gerletti, who made a fine reputation last Friday, will start at end.

Today's game is the second contest of the Alameda County Athletic league football season. Richmond lost its first league game last week to Berkeley by a 34 to 6 score, while Piedmont trounced Alameda 9 to 0. Richmond will play Alameda next Friday at Alameda.

The league standings are now as follows:

	W	L	Pct.
Alameda	0	1	.000
Berkeley	1	0	1.000
Piedmont	1	0	1.000
Richmond	0	1	.000

Youth Held On Theft Charges

Charged with stealing a motorcycle Tony Pine, 22-year-old youth of San Pablo was in Richmond city jail today following his arrest and return from South San Francisco.

Richmond police notified the bay city police to look for Pine, who was reported there. His arrest and appearance in court may solve the mysterious disappearance of many bicycles and motorcycles reported missing recently, police say. It was said by police that Pine may be a member of a gang that has been operating along that line in past months.

The gang has been particularly active in Richmond and Berkeley where members have been apprehended and sentenced. George Bengley returned Pine here to face the motorcycle stealing charge.

Rotary Club To Hold Session

Questions regarding the amendments to be voted upon by Californians next Tuesday will be answered by T. H. De Lap at the Richmond Rotary club meeting today.

Many questions have arisen regarding the 26 amendments and it is said that a meeting of this nature will clear up many of the problems now recognized as existing.

Speeches from the various members in which they may express their opinions regarding the various amendments will also be heard.

Prince Of Wales Sounds Peace Plea

LONDON, Oct. 30.—UP—A significant challenge to the statesmen of the world to enter the list in a crusade for permanent peace was sounded by the Prince of Wales tonight.

The popular heir to the throne of the world's mightiest empire was in a more serious vein than is customary. He talked of international armaments and declared competition. He declared the nation could live happily together disarmed, and pointed to the units of the British empire as proof of his argument.

Engineers At Highway Meet

Route of the new Bayshore highway from Richmond to San Jose was nearer settled today following a meeting of city and county engineers of Contra Costa and Alameda counties.

Recommendations made following a survey by the state highway and bridges departments were not made public, but it is believed plans for the work and route will be ready for the granting of a state permit in the near future.

Andrews made the bridge survey report, while Grumm made the highway report for the state officials.

E. A. Hoffman, Richmond city engineer attended the meeting with approximately 15 engineers of the bay district who heard the reports at Berkeley.

Shriners Will Visit Santa Rosa

The entertainment program will feature "A Night in Spain" with Eddie Burke as master of ceremonies.

W. W. Shuhaw is chairman of the general committee and will be assisted by the out-of-town committee of Aahmes Temple.

Precisely the entire police force will be on duty tonight to prevent any mischief that might be plotted by the younger persons. Marking of store and automobile windows will be forbidden, and children apprehended who persist in this activity.

Boy 7, Making Long China Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—UP—Barely able to lift his suitcase an inch from the floor, seven year old Elliott Chan Kirk will continue his journey from New York to China here Friday, sailing on the liner President Garfield.

The boy was born on Mott street New York, son of a Chinese father and a Danish mother. He attended American public schools and has never been taught Chinese.

"It is the wish of my grandfather that I be educated as a Chinese gentleman," Elliott explained when he arrived here, a big, new bundle under one arm and a toy monoplane under the other.

Chest Drive Will Open On Monday

With workers taking the field in the business district next Monday morning, the local Community Chest will be formally launched on its first annual campaign. It was announced yesterday by W. W. Scott, general chairman.

Scott said the dinner is to be attended by the members of the central committee, the business district division leaders and the leading women from the residential districts headed by Mrs. Earle B. Scott.

The canvass in the business districts will start Monday, and preliminary reports from some of these leaders may be forthcoming at Monday night's meeting.

The work among the larger givers has been under way for several days under the direction of the central committee headed by A. C. Faris, and this group will hold its second luncheon meeting next Monday noon at the Hotel Carquinez for what is expected to be a final summing up of this phase of the campaign.

The work in the residence districts under the women's division will begin November 10, one week after the solicitation starts down town. The first of the report luncheons for these workers will probably be held November 12.

The business district workers will assemble Monday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Scott reported enthusiastic progress in lining up teams for the Chest canvass. He said a favorable response has been received from men and women asked to work for the organization, and that those already approached for financial support had indicated their willingness to give liberally this year. He pointed out again that the present campaign is to be the only one during the next year for the six agencies represented in the Chest.

There is to be no expense for administering the Chest, he pointed out. This year the Mechanics Bank has been named depository and will receive and disburse funds and next year the same task will be assumed by some other Richmond bank.

"This enables us to eliminate the charge for administration which makes a considerable item in the Chests of most cities," said Scott.

THREE FRENCH GIRLS AT FOX

"Pip, pip, m'lord!" If it isn't Jeeves himself, it's his twin brother who steals out of the pages of P. G. Wodehouse's famous writings and into "Three French Girls," which premiered yesterday at the Fox-California.

Wodehouse, we learn, wrote the hilarious dialogue for this mirthful farce-comedy directed by Harry Beaumont and in the sketching of the butler role we cannot help but note the fine English hand of the famous humorist.

Altogether, this new Metro-Goldwyn Mayer offering is as delightful a screen fare as we have palated in many a day. It supplies a splendid opportunity for Reginald Denry and Piff Dorsay, who head the cast, and they swoop down upon it with much gusto and aplomb. It must have been lots of fun making this picture and there is every evidence that the players shared the laughs intended mainly for audiences.

The plot, which won't bother you greatly, is motivated by a typically Wodehouse-English boisterous nephew of a crabby earl who relies upon his good man Jeeves—beg pardon, Parker! It is in the picture for support and mental conclusions, Larry, the nephew, meets up with three French girls who have their eyes upon a Paris modiste shop which he gallantly offers to buy for them—with uncle Earl's shillings. The girls happen to be Miss Dorsay, Yola d'Avril and Sandra Ravel. Into this strange ensemble march Cliff (Ukulele like) Edwards and Edward Brophy, two ex-American doughboys on the loose in France for no particular purpose or good. What happens after that you must see for yourself. You really wouldn't believe it if you only had it on hearsay.

Three French Girls

CLIFF EDWARDS and Yola d'Avril are starred in "THOSE THREE FRENCH GIRLS" at the Fox-California theater.

KIDNAPER OF BANK HEAD CONFESSES

KEWANEE, Ill., Oct. 30.—UP—Verne Algren, a trouserless kidnaper suspect, confessed in detail tonight, police announced, to the abduction of Banker Earl L. Yocum of Galva, Ill.

Chief of Police John B. Klumhager said Algren implicated three other men in kidnapping Yocum, keeping him captive four days and releasing him then upon his promise to pay ransom. One of the men already was held at Cambridge, Ill., a steadily swelling posse swarmed over the western Illinois countryside looking for the other two.

"We didn't get a cent of ransom money from Yocum," Algren was quoted as saying. "We let him loose finally when he said he would put as $10,000 today in Lone Tree, Ill."

"We asked him for $35,000 but he wouldn't pay that much. Some came down until he agreed to pay $10,000."

Yocum was kept a prisoner at Lacon, Ill., while authorities over the midwest looked for him, Algren told the chief.

Algren's capture provided a ludicrous climax to an exciting day in which posses surrounded a field at dawn only to have Algren and his two companions break away. Two airplanes dived overhead in an attempt to locate the fugitives.

Finally the officers came upon an isolated farmhouse which they approached stealthily, with shotguns at their shoulders and machine guns handy. They cautiously tried the door, stole inside, only to find Algren clad in his union suit, industriously attempting to mend a large rent in his trousers.

He was so confused by the intrusion upon his domestic activities that he made no attempt to resist.

FAY WRAY is the star of "The Sea God" which will be shown at the Fox-California soon.

Dewey Camp To Meet Tonight

Admiral Dewey camp and its auxiliary organization will hold a joint meeting tonight to hear the various amendments on the ballot discussed by James N. Long.

Supervisor Long will come prepared to answer all questions regarding the amendments which have brought many inquiries from members of the two organizations. The meeting to be held in Memorial hall will be presided over by Thomas Nee, commander of the Dewey post, Spanish-American War Veterans.

Mooseheart To Attend Bill Rites

Attired in white, women of Mooseheart Legion will meet at St. Mark's Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. today to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. A. C. Bill.

A large following of the deceased woman's friends is expected to witness the funeral services which are to be conducted from the church at 10 o'clock.

The church is located at the corner of Tenth and Bissell.

UNDERSEA FILM TO BE SHOWN AT FOX

A new motion picture camera, able to operate on the bottom of the ocean in synchrony with sound recording apparatus and without the protection of a diving bell, has been proved successful in action.

The equipment was designed and perfected by the camera department at Paramount's Hollywood Studios for use in making "The Sea God," a story told partly on the floor of the Pacific, which features Richard Arlen and Fay Wray, and which opens its engagement Saturday at the Fox-California Theater.

Long before the picture was ready to go into production, the camera experts were considering the best method of photographing the undersea sequences.

A diving bell could be employed to protect the camera. In that case, all action would have to be brought within the narrow vision range offered by stationary bell-glass port-holes.

GANGSTERS IN ATTACK ON OFFICER

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—UP—Gangsters raked a suburban street car today with fire from a sawed off shotgun in a spectacular effort to assassinate Police Sergeant James McBride.

McBride is one of the State's principal witnesses in a revived murder charge against "Three-Fingered Jack" White, notorious racketeer and hoodlum. Police and McBride's mother ascribed the attack to efforts of the gang to prevent his testimony.

The officer was struck in the jaw by one charge of slugs and wounded critically, but is expected to recover.

Six passengers including a woman were in the street car when the gangster's machine drove past it to the left. McBride was sitting next to a window, reading a newspaper.

As the gangsters' machine reached McBride's window, one of them in the rear seat poked out the shotgun and fired both barrels.

The passengers in the car ducked as shattered window glass fell. The motorman slammed on the brakes.

McBride slumped to the floor. The automobile sped away. Witnesses said it bore a Wisconsin license plate.

"Jack White's gang tried to get him again," Mrs. McBride cried when news of the shooting was carried to her.

"They have threatened him several times and tried to shoot him once before. They told him he never would testify."

White was arrested recently as one of the "public enemies" here, and has been in jail since because authorities revived an old murder charge against him.

Cars Damaged In Crash Here

A machine driven by an Oakland man was damaged yesterday when it struck another car which had just stopped to let out a passenger at Twenty-third avenue and Grant street, police reported.

Eddie Goll, Oakland was the driver of the car which was damaged when it struck a car driven by Frank Whetstone, 801 Madison street, Albany, police said. No one was injured in the accident, police reported.

Local Girls At G. A. A. Meet Held In Oakland

A number of local high school girls attended the semi-annual meeting of the G. A. A. Federation held this week at Roosevelt high school in Oakland.

A Richmond union high school girl, Gertrude Heise, was chosen as one of the three yell leaders of the day.

Competition was held in speed ball and hand ball, followed by recreational dancing in the Roosevelt gymnasium. Luncheon was then served, at which time the girls of the various schools represented at the convention gave their school yells and songs.

The girls present at the convention were welcomed by the Dean of Girls of Roosevelt high school, Miss Florence Weeks, head of the recreational department of Oakland, spoke on the part played by women in the Olympic games. An interesting talk was also given on the W. A. A. at the University of California by the president of the organization. A short skit was presented by the Roosevelt girls. Singing and dancing were also included on the fine program.

Ten schools of the eastbay district were represented at the convention held in Oakland this week.

'Free Spending' Brings Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—UP—Edward Jackson, a Laurel, Miss. bank cashier who allegedly absconded with $72,000, admitted his identity here today after being traced because he was a "free spender."

The dapper prisoner, who lived in one of Hollywood's most fashionable hotels, made his admission in the United States commissioner's office and was ordered returned to Laurel.

Police said that Jackson disappeared from the First National Bank of Laurel last August 11. A farmer presented him with a sack of cantaloupes and Jackson, after secreting $72,000 in currency in the sack, had a porter place it in his automobile, it was said.

Arizona Needs Cotton Pickers

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 30.—UP—A shortage of cotton pickers in Arizona was reported tonight to Quince Record, director of the Denver office of the federal employment service, by A. E. Tabor, general manager of the Arizona cotton growers association.

Tabor asked Record to aid in stimulating the movement of cotton pickers to Arizona during the next 30 days.

In other lines of agriculture in Arizona, there is an active demand for labor, but the local supply is adequate, Record was informed.

Claims Fill Air As Vote Grows Near

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—UP—Last minute predictions from party headquarters, Republican leaders, and heads of the wet and dry movements, are filling the air in the national capital and clouding the conjectural outcome of the congressional elections Tuesday.

The "open season" for campaign claims has developed such widely conflicting reports and predictions that even seasoned observers find it difficult to judge the true situation.

President Henry H. Curran of the association against the prohibition amendment said today the prohibition repeal movement will gain six votes in the next senate and between 60 and 70 in the house. This would bring wet strength to about 25 in the senate and more than 150 in the house.

William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, issued a statement predicting the Republicans will hold a house majority of 40 or 50.

Senator T. H. Caraway, Dem., Ark., who has been campaigning in Oklahoma and Kentucky, predicted both states will go democratic.

Baby Princess Is Christened

LONDON, Oct. 30.—UP—Princess Margaret Rose, second daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, was a very good baby today during the pomp and ceremony with which her formal christening was attended.

For 15 minutes she lay quietly, kicking a little now and then, but smiling as the christening proceeded without a hitch to its historic close. She was given but two names, Margaret Rose, a fact almost unique. Most real royal princesses have a half dozen names, or more, but the pretty young duchess of York and her modern husband, the handsome duke, second son of the king and queen of England, decided their daughter should be different.

Princess Elizabeth, the infant Margaret's older sister, has only three names, and the duchess deleted one from that number when they named her newest princess, born 10 weeks ago on a stormy night in August at hoary old Glamis castle, in Scotland, home of her mother.

Seven Held In Communist Raids At Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—UP—A heavy police guard was placed around the jail here tonight when seven asserted communist leaders were taken into custody on charges of raiding 26 employment agencies of the state capital.

Earlier in the evening, the employment agencies had been entered by men claiming to be communists, who demanded money in return for tickets they contended were receipts for purchase of jobs.

The county grand jury met in special session immediately after the arrests to consider evidence that had been gathered.

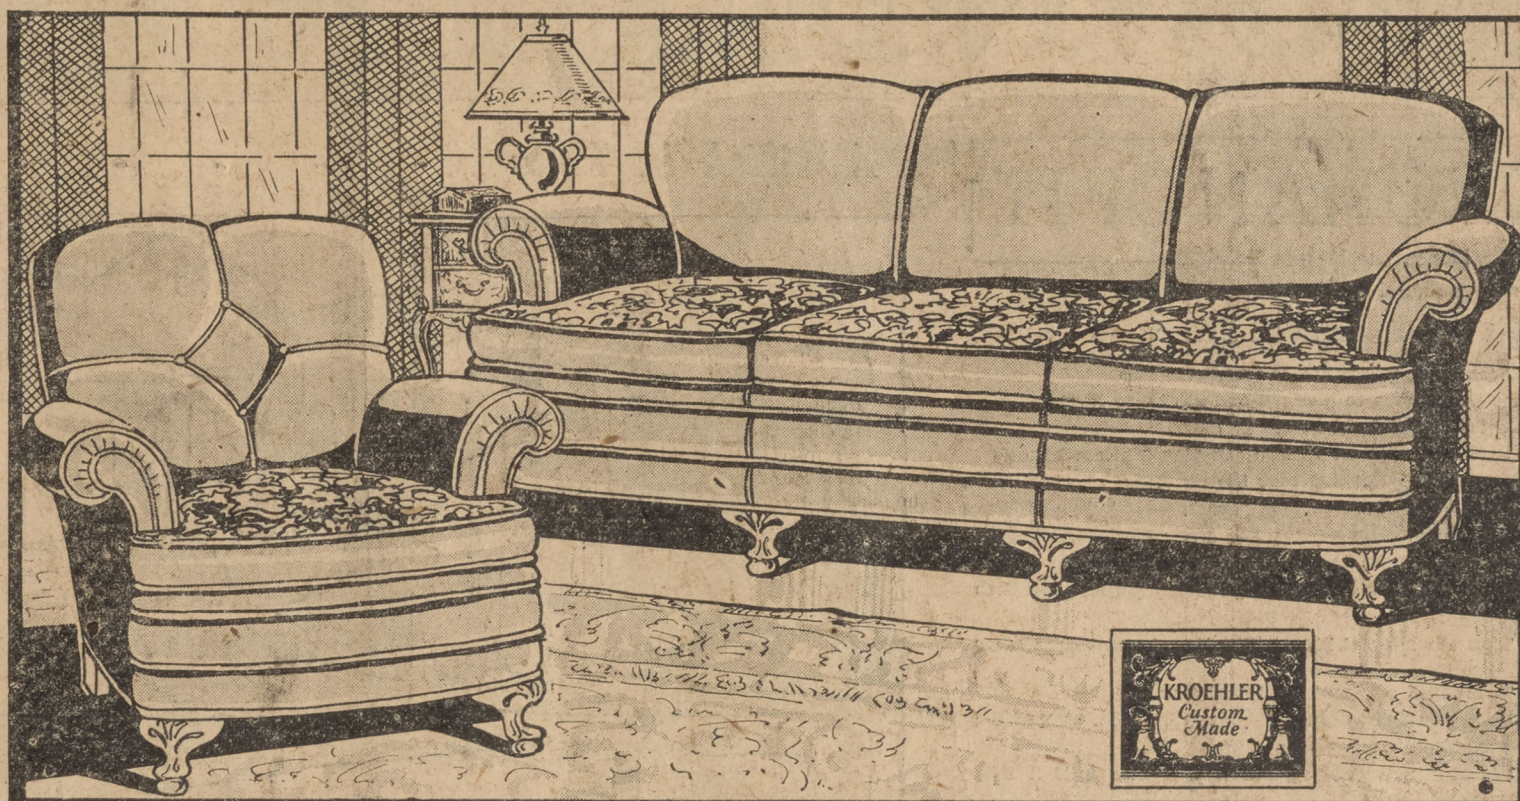

Chief of Police William Hallihan ordered a general drive against "agitators" in Sacramento, requesting 75 members of his department to arm themselves with tear gas bombs and be ready for any emergency. He selected 20 men to surround the jail, giving them sawed-off shot guns and several machine guns.

American Killed In Plane Crash

BOULOGNE, France, Oct. 30.—Three passengers were killed and three occupants badly hurt when a British Imperial Airways passenger and mail plane forced down in a fog, crashed in a field near Neu-Chatel today, 65 miles west of Paris.

The dead, according to reports to officials here, were an American, H. Street, said to be from Newark, N. J., and two employees of the company.

First Aid To Autumn Brides

THAT all the world loves a lover is true, but no more true than that all the world loves to give aid and advice to lovers—particularly to lovers of the female sex.

The idea seems to be that a young man in love can play his own hand. But some kind soul is perpetually looking over the shoulder of the girl who's playing "hearts"—and perpetually telling her what to lead, what to discard, what to bet.

However, it's only after a girl's engagement has been announced that the river of kindly intentioned and indeed often excellent advice turns into a torrent, an inundation. Mother usually tells her just what sort of wedding she must have—

It's the girl's wedding, but Mother acts as if it were her own.

Perhaps to get even with her mother, who blessed her wedding, twenty-five years earlier.

If there is a married sister, she horns in with all sorts of worldly wisdom about "training" a husband, "starting him right," "getting on his tricks."

The cousins and the aunts are vociferous with suggestions. For the trousseau, and for what the girl "simply must have."

To begin housekeeping in her new house or apartment.

Indeed, even the unmarried girl friends can tell the bride-to-be just where, & they were she, they'd "insist" on living.

And just what is the way of domestic surroundings, "every girl is entitled to."

The poor, dear girl herself, if she is in love as she should be, does about in a sort of bilious haze of benevolence.

Which makes it difficult for her to be firm with her self-appointed advisers.

To tell them, brutally, to lay off—

And let her marry and set up housekeeping as she and the future husband please.

That's why we have been delighted to find two newly published books for brides-to-be.

We're not reviewing them—we're just telling the girls about them.

So that, when family and friends become too officious.

The candidate for orange blossoms can counter, mildly but firmly, "That's how I'm going to do things—this is how they should be done—"

First, of these two books of first aid, is The Bride's Book of Etiquette, by Anna Seese Richardson.

In which there is set down just how the modern bride can get married.

The several ways, which are perfectly correct, for conducting the ceremony.

From the sending of the invitations, through choosing the trousseau and selecting the bridal party.

To the decorations, the reception, the gifts and entertaining.

And the most interesting feature of Mrs. Richardson's advice, to many a modern maiden, is her insistence on the beauty and dignity of simplicity.

"In 1930 Mrs. Cinderella, tripping blithely from department store bank, copy desk, or antique shop to the altar.

"Has a wedding-day etiquette all her own," our author points out.

"Miss Cinderella should have the simplest of weddings.

"The ceremony may be followed by a small breakfast party in a tearoom.

"Or there need be no breakfast at all."

Gorging at weddings is out of date, anyhow, according to Mrs. Richardson.

And so—with fashions changing every three months—is an elaborate trousseau really an elaborate thing?

Then, after deciding about the wedding arrangements, with this expert help,

PLEA TO THE NEW LOVE

Lady, please don't tell me of the man with whom you were in love before you fell in love with me.

I ask it on my bended knee.

Lady, though I may remind you of the man you've left behind you, I won't help your love affair.

What you did, I do not care.

What he said to you means less.

So, my darling, don't confide in him.

Keep from me the things that were And I won't have to speak of her!

GATES HEBBARD.

CA DISH CA DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

For the past week, markets have been displaying great baskets of large tender white mushrooms, inspiring the housewife to buy them—and often to go scurrying about looking for new ways to cook and serve them. Consider the plight of one of the readers of this department who writes me that her cooking experience extends only over the past three months, and mushrooms were to her something she took out of a can and used in sauces or sautés with steak.

KAREN HOLLIS

the back of her mind that she would have cream of mushroom soup. Confronted with the task of preparing them, she lost courage. Should she simmer them for a few minutes, or boil them for hours? She chose a middle course, boiled them for half an hour, forced them through a sieve with considerable difficulty and added them to a thin cream sauce, only to find that the result did not taste at all like "he delicious mushroom soup she had read in books."

"What is it that French cooks put in mushroom soup to give it that pungent flavor?" she asks, adding that hers had a pallid taste.

More experience, cooks than she might well ask that same question, for even among expert chefs you can start a rousing argument about the best way to make mushroom soup.

There is only one point upon which they all agree: the mushrooms should be sautéed in butter, not boiled.

Beyond that, the suggestion for seasoning may range far from the usual "season to be found in the average kitchen."

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP

After testing many recipes, I have found one that does not call for any unusual ingredients, and which results in a smooth, creamy soup that compares well with the creations of French chefs. If you like this, and are interested in knowing other ways of preparing mushrooms, let me know and I will send you about a delicious Italian dish called stuffed mushrooms.

Meanwhile, here is the recipe for soup, served with crisp crackers, and followed by a tart fruit salad, this provides an ample and well-balanced luncheon.

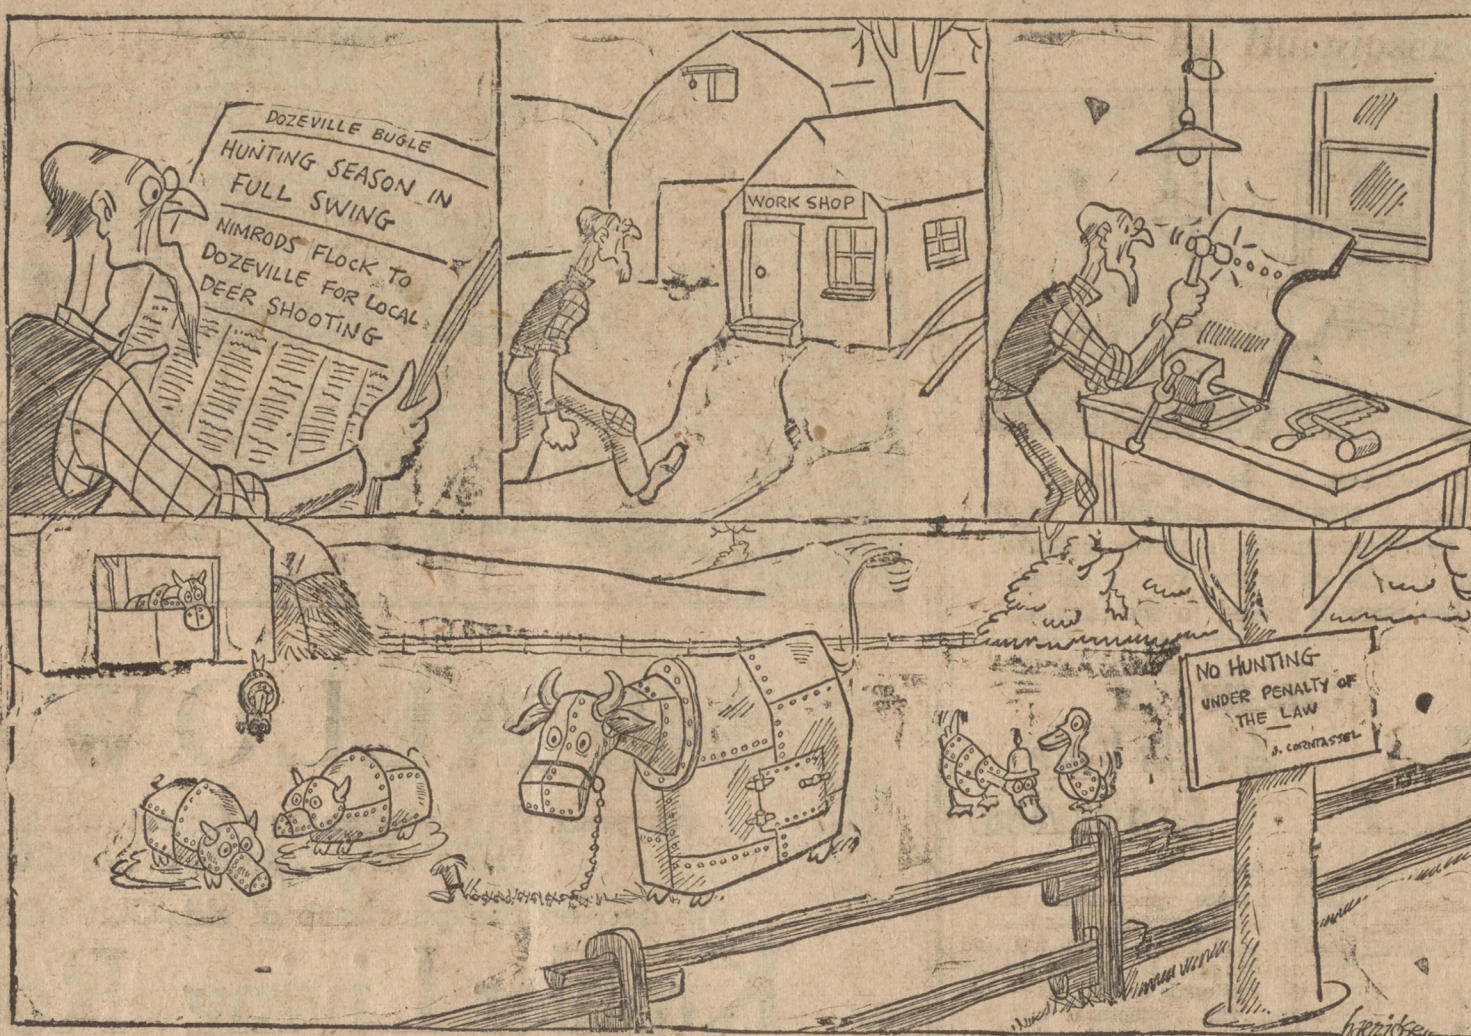

1/2 pound mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, sliced
2 stalks celery, sliced thin
1 branch parsley, minced
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of cayenne
1 quart milk
3 tablespoons flour

Wash, drain and cut the mushrooms in thin slices, using both stems and caps. Mince the butter and add mushrooms, onion, salt, cayenne, parsley and celery. Sauté gently for fifteen minutes over a slow fire. Heat milk, adding bay leaf and whole cloves. When scalding point is reached, remove bay leaf and cloves. Thicken with flour moistened with milk. Stir in mushroom mixture and heat over low flame for twenty minutes. Remove from fire and heat briskly with a wire egg beater. Return to fire and heat to boiling point. Some French cooks add a beaten egg yolk and one-half cup of cream just before serving, but the soup is rich without that addition. Other cooks insist that mushroom soup should stand for some hours before serving to improve the flavor, but this, it seems to me, is questionable.

The Right Rugs for Three Different Rooms

By Alina Zaiss

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

PROBLEM NO. 1

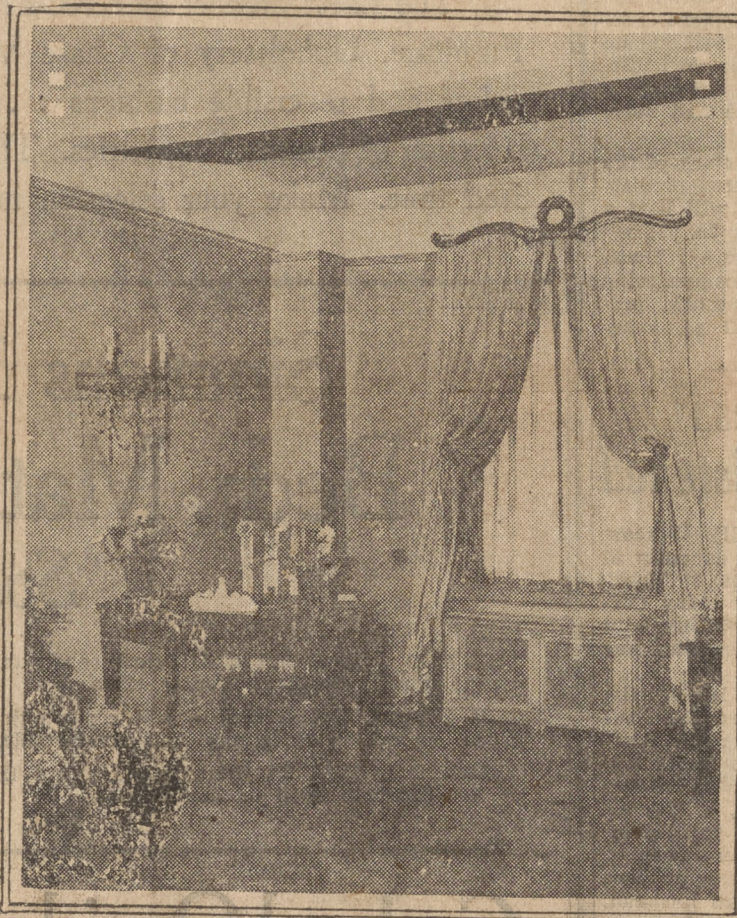

Dear Miss Zaiss:

I have two things to ask of you if you will be so good as to help me. First, I would like you to give me a good arrangement for the things I have in my living room, and you might suggest a few additional things (not expensive) that would help out the effect, if you think it is necessary.

Then we would like your opinion about a new rug or carpet. My daughter, whom I want to please as well as myself, is all for a plain rug and I think, considering the money good plain rugs cost, they aren't so effective as an Oriental and might not stay in style as long. Our room isn't very big; it is 14x17 feet. I figure if we get a 9x12 Oriental it would cover well enough to look well and be much richer than a plain rug. But we would both like to know what your choice would be.

The three-piece set is covered with tapestry of brownish ground with green, and rust and gold, and a little purple; there is a Gogswell chair in figured velvet, green and tan, and I have been using cretonne draperies but would change these now if you say so. The old rug is brownish taupe with a shaded border. Wood of furniture is mostly walnut, except one nest of brown mahogany tables. Now I would appreciate your being frank, Miss Zaiss. What kind of carpet or rug do you think would be best for that room?

(Mrs.) A. V. P.

HERE RICHNESS IS ACHIEVED THROUGH THE USE OF LUSTROUS TEXTURES AND COLOR INSTEAD OF ELABORATE DESIGN

Richness May Be Achieved in Several Ways

IT IS ALWAYS a delicate matter to make recommendations for the home wherein opinions are divided. We should like so much to please Mrs. P. as well as her daughter, who has directly opposite views! How, then shall we say it?

Considering the amount of pattern now in the room, the daughter's preference for a plain rug meets with our full approval. But on her part, Mrs. P. need not be troubled about its lack of richness. The soft, velvety luster of a really good plain rug that is attractive in color can be quite as luxurious as a patterned background. The plain surface is perhaps more subtle in that it gives patterned draperies and upholstery a chance to be seen against it in striking contrast.

On the other hand, provided the floor margins in this room are finished in dark tones, a good 9 by 12 Oriental rug would prove a fair (and perfect) size and, with the support of well chosen curtains and upholstery, may furnish the foundation for a very attractive scheme. The question really narrows itself down to whether or not these two home-makers feel that the easy harmonies and different effects made possible by the use of a plain rug will prove more interesting to them over a long period of time than would the fixed charm of the Oriental.

If the photograph reproduces as well as it should, Mrs. P. will see that her room even if "tamed" walls, draperies or carpet were needed in order to give richness to the scheme which relies upon exquisite coloring, the deep, lustrous life of the chenille carpet and the shimmering texture of the side lights, the beauty of the fine old furniture and the contrast of color in upholstery give the eye that loves richness all that it could ask for in that regard.

We shall not make a definite recommendation for Mrs. P.'s room. If after considering the points mentioned she still hesitates about the plain rug and yearns for the Oriental, then we suggest that the daughter yield her point, or perhaps Mrs. P.

would compromise on the plain foundation rug with a smaller Oriental used over it at some point of advantage.

Regardless of the type of carpet chosen, we would break up the three-piece set by slip-covering at least one chair in a plain colored material repeating one of the hues found in the tapestry pattern or in the curtains, perhaps favoring the henna tones, since the Gogswell chair is in green.

Good colors for a plain rug in this room would be either rich deep rust or henna, or blue-green. New draperies might be of natural colored linen, having a hand-blocked or printed pattern, showing tones of rust, gold and blue-green.

If the Oriental is chosen, then it would be wise to have plain or semi-plain overcurtains. We have in mind a certain attractive new fabric that belongs to the rep family, but seems to be composed of ribbon-like stripes woven through loose meshes that have a glint of gold. In blue-green this fabric is particularly rich and lovely; the other colors are also good.

A soft sage-green plain carpet (broadloom or invisibly seamed) or a semi-plain carpet in green tones would seem to give the best foundation for the colors mentioned. A smaller Oriental—say one about three or four by six feet in size—may be used before the sofa or the fireplace if the Oriental note is desired. But the room does not seem to need additional pattern, nor does the informal type of its scheme call for the "Oriental touch."

PROBLEM NO. 2

Dear Miss Zaiss:

Kindly advise me what the proper floor covering is for a bedroom with modern furniture. My room is about 10x12 feet, and also what should I place on the dresser? Thanking you in advance.

(Mrs.) A. J.

Modern Washable Rugs Interesting for Bedrooms

ONE of several treatments may be recommended for Mrs. F.'s room, her choice depending upon the amount she wishes to spend. If the room has a good floor finished in rather dark tones, she may use small or medium-sized rugs over the waxed surface. In this class come such types as the washable cotton chenille rugs in smart modern patterns and new colors as well as in two-tone effects in green, blue, rose or black combined with beige. These rugs are not only effective, but very practical because of their excellent laundering qualities. They can be tubbed or sent to the laundry as often as is necessary for immaculate cleanliness without injury to color, texture or to the clearness of the designs.

If Mrs. F. prefers a fully carpeted effect, the floor may be covered with an inexpensive plain or mottled rug and one or two of the small modern rugs could be used over it to supply color and pattern. Or she may select a room-size rug in a modernistic shaded pattern. Her decision will be governed largely by the draperies and upholstery. We cannot make a definite recommendation without knowing what she intends to use in the room.

As to what should be placed on the dresser, why not a pair of pretty modern lamps in glass or white metal, and perhaps one effective modern piece for the center space? No scarves are necessary.

PESSIMISM FOR PROFIT

THE Knute Rockne-Gil Doble influence touches politics: "The Democrats should beat us by a landslide," said the Republican state chairman in an interview today. "If we had a Calvin Coolidge running for Governor, we might hold them to a close election, but our chances are hopeless with the weak material we have on this year's ticket."

"Look at McSweeney, our Republican candidate for C. vernor. He never even had experience running a town meeting. How can you expect him to do anything at the polls against a crack statesman like Gibney, the esteemed Democratic candidate? Why, with the thinking electorate our man is a joke!"

"We are weak all along the line. Mr. Frump, our nominee for Lieutenant Governor, was knifed by the labor vote two years ago and he hasn't recovered from it yet. He will limp in a very bad second. Our candidate for Attorney General is just a crack statesman like Gibney, the esteemed Democratic candidate? Why, with the thinking electorate our man is a joke!"

"No, gentlemen of the press, we haven't a chance. We are slated to go down to an overwhelming defeat. I figure we will be doing well if we lose by less than 300,000 votes. Our only hope is to get rid of the bees and idiots that are running on this year's ticket and maybe we might win a couple of county offices at the election of 1932."

The chairman of the Democratic state committee issued the following statement to political reporters this morning:

"My friend Harry Ginkle, chairman of the Republican state committee, was in a kidding mood when he said we Democrats will win tomorrow. He knows darn well we will go down to a resounding defeat that we so richly deserve. Why, our opponents' candidate for Governor has bought his inaugural suit already! If our platform had advanced anything constructive in this campaign, we might have a chance to win a few seats in the Legislature. But we can't expect to win over any voters when our platform is just a lot of blarney."

"Just be sensible and show us where we've got a chance. Take Gibney, the nominee for Governor and our key man. He has been thrown out of three apartment houses for wife beating and just escaped being sentenced as a horse thief by a dis-

How to Fill a Pillow

ONE housewife has just finished washing her pillows and she tried a novel way of getting the feathers back into the pillow casing. She succeeded admirably, and this is how she did it. She removed the dust bag and closed the vacuum cleaner, then she tied the open end of the pillow casing securely around the discharge opening of the cleaner, from which she had removed the dust bag.

With the vacuum cleaner on the table she attached the suction hose, then she started the motor and let the suction hose down into the receptacle holding the clean feathers, which stood on a stool, after which she had to do was to hold the hose in place, and when the pillow was filled she shut off the motor and removed her filled pillow. The job which formerly was so exasperating was accomplished in a jiffy and no feathers scattered about.

PULLMAN AVE. WORK STARTS NEXT WEEK

Grading of Pullman avenue from Cutting boulevard to the north end of Panhandle boulevard will begin next week preparatory to the paving work ordered by vote of the city council several months ago, announcement yesterday said.

Union Paving company of San Francisco will do the grading over the course which is approximately one mile long.

With the completion of the new street which will not be laid down until next year, when the foundation has settled the route to Richmond Annex from Cutting boulevard will be greatly shortened.

Part of the new course will have to be filled to make it an even roadway. That was the reason given for the delaying of actual work until next year.

Contract price for both the grading and paving is $132,126.95 according to officials who conferred with E. A. Hoffman, city engineer in his office yesterday to tell him that they were ready to proceed with the work.

Coolidge In Address Over Nation Radio

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 30.—UP—The world-wide recession in trade has been due to a combination of causes which no one yet comprehends, former president Calvin Coolidge declared tonight in a radio address.

Coolidge, speaking in the interests of the Republican party in the forthcoming election, said he did not know anything which the federal or state governments have failed to do which either would have prevented the depression or now would cause a healthy revival of business.

"There has been a chronic revolution in China, economic chaos in Russia and grave disturbances in India so that one-half of the population of the globe has been turned into a financial liability," the former president said.

He said that the present conditions were probably "that secondary reaction which has followed the first revival after great wars."

The revolutions in the South American countries, Coolidge asserted have been influenced by conditions in other parts of the world.

Urging the election of former Senator William M. Butler, his manager during the 1924 presidential campaign and one-time chairman of the national committee, to the senate, Coolidge referred to industrial conditions in Massachusetts as "not satisfactory."

"The former president said that no government 'worthy of confidence' undertakes to guarantee prosperity."

He said, however, through wise measures, promoting security and peace accompanied by reasonable taxation, greatly encourage all kinds of business. Such a policy will make business better when times are good and prevent it from being worse when times are bad.

"If there was any action that could have been taken by the government of the United States which would have prevented the trouble that has arisen all over the world no one has yet convincingly stated it."

It is no time for "rash experiments" in men or measures, Coolidge declared.

ure which he fathered it would have been worth all the trouble and time it took to put it into law.

For four years Inman was president of the Oriental Exclusion League, and during that time drafted an initiatory measure which was passed by the vote of the people, and today is said to be the salvation of the state in an agricultural sense.

A record not to be questioned when compared for ability as a law-maker was cited by the speaker when he declared that of all the bills he introduced during the past legislative session more than 67 percent of them had become law. The average legislator sees about six percent of his bills enacted into law, it was said.

Served Many Years

The manner in which he has conducted his past campaigns was told in a manner that won him many plaudits. Inman declared that his opponent in 1917 is now his campaign manager, while two other opponents of more recent dates are also supporting his fight. When this fight is over he will be as ready to face his opponent with as clear a record, it was declared.

Inman's entrance into politics was gained when he defeated the father of the present United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, who was a candidate for election to the assembly. Since that time he has been in constant touch with legislative measures.

Senator Inman is a holdover state senator, and will serve his present term even when elected to Congress.

No Promises

Inman made no promise, except that he would not change if sent to Washington. He declared his record showed him to be a straightforward legislator, and he would continue to be that kind of man in the legislative halls at Washington.

"I don't propose to sprout wings," he said.

A man in the audience asked Inman what he thought of the bill now before congress which proposed that a man be appointed to the President's cabinet to represent education. Inman admitted he was not fully conversant enough with the measure to give a definite answer to the question, but again pointed to his record as an answer of what he might be expected to do if confronted with the problem of voting on such a measure.

Deasey Presides

Among those present with Inman and backers of his candidacy were Percy West, assemblyman from the twelfth legislative district, who has held office for the past ten years; Paul Mason, Sacramento attorney, and Roy Goodwin, of the Sacramento Bee. Inman was introduced by John Deasey, president of Contra Costa Central Labor council, who was chairman of the meeting.
